

MORSE READING

Greetings Dear Ones,

Children of the light, for indeed you are. As Jesus told His disciples, they were to be the light of the world as He was going away. They would be the light and also the salt of the earth, the flavoring. But the light must not be hidden under a bushel. It is to shine forth and more and more disclose that which is before you as you pray for discernment to separate true from false, wheat from the chaff. As the light increases, the light of God in your temple, it will enlighten you, increase in your consciousness until you become completely illumined as you ascend the stairway into the heavenly realms, into the celestial realms far beyond the surface of the planet, far beyond the astral planes.

For that which is divine and celestial cannot be ^{encompassed} (comprehended) by the finite mind. But that of the infinite is so far beyond the mortal mind of man, or his physical eyes, or his five senses, but ^{it} is an entirely different environment.

And as the Holy Spirit abides within you as you truly seek the Kingdom of God, the Kingdom of Heaven, then you are expanding in consciousness more and more. You are opening into the greater vistas of the heavenly realm. For that which is called attitude while you are in the flesh, determines your altitude, as you begin to ascend even a little for more and more will come in due time. But there must be a maturing in the spirit and in keeping all things in balance as you grow and move through the necessary experiences of earth. And as you walk with your Elder Brother, Jesus, your Redeemer, your Savior, He was given authority by the heavenly Father to take dominion over the planet, to govern it and rule it for He had passed all the tests necessary to show that He was quite ready and capable of governing.

And as you grow in the spirit, the soul of you expands and is then led by the spirit within you. Then you are experiencing moving into higher frequencies of light, experiencing the personal guidance of your Shepherd, your Lord. And this must be a constant walk with Him if you are to learn to live in the spirit and finally leave behind the flesh. For spiritual man can walk right out of the flesh and move on, even as you do in soul flights at night while the body sleeps many times. Those that are truly seeking to be faithful in that walk with God will do this. And as you experience more and more in the spirit, the body and mind out of the way for they do interfere so very much in ^{thousands} of ways daily. And while the intent and purpose may be there, still it is quite difficult to get one to concentrate upon the Lord God of Hosts.

It is difficult to get things off your mortal minds in the things of the day that tire and confuse or frustrate or concern each one. And to get several to come into attunement at one time is close to being impossible, but it does happen; it is not easy. And as soon as you become still, the body is not accustomed to it and one goes to sleep or another begins to snore or another one gets restless and fidgets. The flesh is not accustomed to the spirit and it is difficult to hold a concentration or the attention of the soul while it is in a physical body as you can usually tell if you observe a little bit. And each one, of course, working hard through the day becomes tired, but they are not accustomed to being still to know God. Some, more than others, are fast moving through the day and some do not have the balance in their endocrine glands which are some of the - at least the bridge between the material and the physical and the spiritual. And the thyroid gland, when that becomes out of balance then you have things speeded up in parts of the body. It is still not in balance and rhythm to be effective to smoothly operate in the body and mind according to the way the spirit would move it. So you get so many things out of line, out of balance, out of synchronization and were it not for the mercy of God, and the patience of God, man would never make it. But because God has patience and faithfulness and love and mercy, compassion, all these things are available to spiritual man. They are the attributes of God in man, but man has to still the flesh and the mind long enough to realize it and let it come through. And these many difficulties to truly get a body and mind still, truly still, that the spirit may operate through it, is extremely difficult. And, of course, as a vessel is used, as we channel through this vessel Saramyia, parts of the body such as the endocrine glands and a nervous system that becomes as a very sensitive antenna and finely attuned through much practice and usage for this purpose and in that higher vibration, then it is a delicate instrument, as it is used to reach through to those sitting (we hope in attention) and listening, learning, feeding on the spirit, literally, the soul within each one. That is the opportunity for the soul to be fed. But the body is so busy through the day in the mental activity going at such full force that seldom does the soul have a chance to be fed, taught and lifted up until it can finally get back into its rightful place, in spirit in the Kingdom of God. And there are not enough vessels for the Holy Spirit to move through.

Many that become instruments are limited, or they limit themselves to the lower astral and then to the psychic realm in which many can be turned from their course or their purpose. And to go straight on through to the highest of the frequencies of light that man can receive from God and His host that serve Him to prepare for this change in the planet, this becomes extremely rare for many are content to stop off at the psychic level and enter into many dangers and expose themselves and others to all kinds of entities of lower planes.

So when there is a vessel completely given over to God to use that holy temple for God's Divine Purpose then the sensitivity must become greater than ever and there must be cooperation, undergirding by those as an inner group around them, prayer and love and undergirding of that vessel. Many do not realize the extreme sensitivity which sometimes is painful to the instrument, and the varying factors that affect it or defeat the purpose or make it dangerous for the channel, at least uncomfortable many times. So there should be more attunement to realize to come together in a oneness, a oneness of purpose, unity of desire and purpose for the heavenly things and literally to find that way of closer and closer attunement with God for each one is accountable to God. As you learn to commune with God and walk with Him daily, receive His guidance as He sends it through the Holy Spirit living within you, it is a wonderful, beautiful network of sensitivities, attunements, communication between God and man. It is more the feeling of knowing this and becoming more and more attuned to the delicacy of it. Many nervous systems could not tolerate the shock, or sometimes pain, or dangers, so when there is one that has reached that place of functioning then all should do everything possible to pray and lift that one into the security of the heavenly realms and God using the vessel completely offered to Him in obedience and a certain sacrifice in order to do this. This has not been understood by most, but it makes a great difference. It can also affect even the greater heights and the reaching for the message that would come through to the souls.

So once in a while it is necessary to explain a little bit of that so one can be more considerate or thoughtful and help in every possible way because eventually it is necessary for each one to know and realize these things as they become more and more attuned to the spiritual realm. It is a moment by moment realization and easing into, gliding into that avenue of the spirit. This is so different than going through the avenues of the earth.

As you come closer to the ending of this age, as man has known it here on the planet, you will find the nervous systems of each body will be highly intensified
