The Development of Families

Scripture Reading: II Corinthians 3 and 4

Greetings, beloveds. There is great power in your midst. This has been built up session by session, day by day. It is that atmosphere in which your soul can live most naturally, for you are building up that vibration in which you can live and function as a soul, in the life of spirit literally, helping to clothe yourselves in this. You shall function more in higher consciousness, in that vortex which is created by those coming together here for purpose.

We know that some of the Scripture read tonight has been read before, but we would have you concentrate on this process of change that is taking place to help you to realize that you are still clay being molded and reshaped. We remind you that the very life forces moving through you are bringing about this great change which is giving you, at times, strange feelings and sensations. As we have told you before, you are going through a metamorphosis and you might say you are gradually shedding an old skin, old clothes for new.

While this is not too startling, it is still a change taking place within and around you. Your auric field is changing, and you yourselves may have noticed that the old is dying out as the new nature in you is raised up. You are feeling (if you examine yourselves within) a reassurance, a new confidence. It is not yours, in one sense of the word, but yet you feel it welling up within you. The spirit is coming into its own. You, as beings who have chosen this, must consider it carefully. Not knowing the ways and means of how it comes about, you are apt to become confused. But when you keep true to the course you have chosen and focus on the Lord you serve, desiring to be filled with the love of God, all these things bring about a natural process through which you move as the change gradually takes place.

You are not to be concerned with the later final change at the end, the change "in the twinkling of an eye." God will see to this. We are helping you to understand what is taking place within you now, as you gradually work through the present change-over.

The cells of your bodies are changing, as well as some of your attitudes, bringing equilibrium or balance within. You are feeling new and strange things because spiritually you are coming alive. Finally you will slide out of the old cocoon and emerge, a new and shining being, but you are conscious while this is taking place. This would be almost as though you are dying consciously as you move through the doors. You are dying unto self and coming alive to the reality of the divine self, consciously letting go of your self-centeredness. This is the overcoming; this shall be the victory. So this process continues. The more that you read or study your Holy Writings and pray that this take place, the more you will readily accept it and move into the reality. Move hopefully into this realization.

Many of the mysteries of God are strange to your minds, for you must meet them in spirit. God is Spirit, your eternal life is spirit, so you must come out of your former self and know Spirit in spirit. You cannot be in the other, and understand Spirit. So with all our reminding you, something will hit home one day, as you might say. It will sink in and you will express joy.

Then you will say, "Now I see. Before I did not." In a moment you will come into a realization, so you must take the battering of words--the reading, our talking to you, the repeating of things. Thank God for the mercy that keeps it with you until it sinks in and you enter into your true life.

You are growing into maturity of the spirit and shall soon understand many things in a much better way. As we talk with you we send light into you to bring greater illumination, and as you open and expand that indwelling spirit in you shall come forth to meet you, shall bring greater realization. At this point it is working from within with the help of those who minister unto you. It is twofold. Finally you shall open from within, and your desire to know God shall bring you face to face with the reality of His presence, your oneness with Him, and your desire to move in line with the plan. This will lift you higher and higher in consciousness, into greater frequencies of light which shall illumine you. It is all God's Light, whether it be the dimensions into which you move or whether it burst forth from the spirit within. You have the light within, you have the spirit of God within, and you travel on the highways of life (the light frequencies on which your being functions) out into cosmic realms.

It is difficult for one to lift the focus from the mortal body and mortal mind, and the lower vibrations of the third dimension. These shall be forgotten as you move back into the awareness of reality, no longer blind, no longer dependent upon a false kingdom, a temporal life that cannot last but a few years without deteriorating. Realize your true opportunity for sustained life in God's Kingdom, and have a desire for it; come out of the old. We continue to stress this.

You have been wondering about planes of suspension. Many who have gone over undeveloped, not knowing many of the laws, have been suspended in the astral plane, and they require help in order to come out of that purgatory stage in-between. You have heard that they must desire to move toward the Light, so you pray that desire be stimulated in them, that they ask for help. Then they are brought out of suspension. So it is with you. You must desire to go into reality or you remain in unreality. The greater your desire (and yours is increasing rapidly) the sooner shall you know true Life, the reality of God's Kingdom. Words cannot describe to you the beauty and the joy of the realization of who you are and your place in His Eternal Home for you. But it is dawning in your consciousness; there is more light on the subject.

Your cells are opening; each nucleus of each cell of your being is coming into a greater intelligence--God's Life expanding in it--until finally your entire being steps out in new life. How many times have we reminded you that it shall be as when Jesus spoke unto Lazarus, "Lazarus come forth!" That is what He is calling to each one of you: "Come forth out of your old nature, your dying body. Come forth into new life and stand before me." For this is a literal happening to which you are moving, degree by degree.

According to your faith, so shall it be. According to your desire and your faith that the desire be met, so shall you move into this new life and take dominion in the authority given you by God, the Father. Take dominion of the Earth and all upon it for His glory, for His name and purpose in your higher nature. The more you remind yourself of this, the more you affirm God's love and goodness flowing through you, the sooner shall you come into a true realization. Then shall your clay be molded into the eternal body, and as the body of dust falls away you shall not need to come back in new incarnations, for you shall be clothed in a sustained, eternal, "glorified" body, as the Master called it.

It should not be so difficult for you to realize that you give up one body for the other. At the end of this age it shall be done consciously; this is taking place while you are yet consciously aware. Why should you have to go into a coma to come victoriously through a change that has been ordained? For those who step through the veil shall be ready to be raised into higher consciousness. For the moment of their passing over they have an astral body, but the ethereal body shall be completed. This is the one that you have been told about, the one that God is bringing into perfection so that you be eternally in Spirit with Him.

You have become so confused by misuse of so many of the words of your language. You take them to mean one thing when many times they mean another. That is why words will not tell your intellect the true answers. But as the power of Spirit enters into you with the words, it shall speak to your soul. We know that you are desperately trying to grasp, to comprehend. Just allow yourself to be filled with God's love and Light and open to receive without blocks--open-minded, open of heart. In patience let these things move into your being, bit by bit, until they reach home to every cell. Then suddenly you shall be flooded with light within and shall see and understand. But it has to enter you first.

These are the same mysteries that were given in your Holy Writings, where you were told that you must "eat of the little book," must "eat of my body," as the Master said. These are spiritual realizations that you are to take in, just as you take food into the physical body. You draw the spiritual realization into your being so that it feeds you, strengthens you, builds into you greater understanding. As the light increases within you, that which has been dark shall be lighted, and in that lighted temple you shall see and realize many things.

It all sounds like babblings until the light finally dawns upon you, and the realization sinks into fertile ground. Then deep within you know what you know, though you know not from whence it came. On this shall you stand, for here is where faith enters in. It is the foundation of the "house built on the solid rock" of the Christ nature coming into awareness and into union with the Father within.

If you cannot understand the mysteries, you must trust in the same manner that you do when you go to sleep at night, and move in the tide of Spirit that shall produce the finished product. You cannot fathom the mysteries of what the soul does while the body sleeps, and yet you trust that your Lord will care for you. He cares for you by sending His angels to watch over you, to minister unto you, to lift you up so that you not stumble. Some are thankful, some take it for granted and some do not believe it; the results show which. You have to enter into the mysteries with an open mind and faith in your God to even begin to see glimpses of that which the finite mind cannot understand.

Do not expect to understand the Infinite while you are yet in the finite. But you can see glimpses, you can see in part and move forward in the faith that you profess to have. You are doing this very thing; you are His obedient children, and that is all that is asked: that you do the best you know to follow that which you feel and see within. And you are obedient to the best that is in you, day by day, receiving each day your daily bread--food for the spirit--that you continue to grow. That is the "daily bread" for which you pray, trusting that, as you go about your everyday life, your Father has not forgotten and is caring for your souls. Know that you shall have the sustained body when you have put down the old nature. What a joy to have a body of spirit and live in cosmic realms of Spirit! In this manner shall you grow.

Those who have understanding to some degree, and have the faith to move forward into that which they do not see, shall be assisted more to enter farther into reality. You are to be encouraged, for you are living in deep sincerity and faith, and you are giving up many things in your lives to further the spirit. You shall enter in, for that is your heart's desire. Those moving in faith, closer to the realization of their God, cannot lose. We work patiently with you because, in humility, you are striving with all your hearts to open more and more to the Father. This very desire shall bring it about.

This has been a marvelous blending of souls true to their convictions. Not too often are there many gathered together in true desire to step, at any cost, into the Father's Kingdom--as this group has been doing during the Retreat. Spirit drew the souls that came into a perfect blending to form this needed vortex. This not only strengthens and raises your souls in growth, but provides the opportunity for you to use this magnification of Spirit to further the Father's work as you learn to direct this light and energy constructively. You are literally building in the Kingdom, allowing the Light to shine through you, directing these energies out so that when more of higher potential comes through you, you will distribute it in the Father's name in a constructive manner, to glorify Him. As Light comes unto Earth it shall glorify the Father. It is the very extension of Himself, the magnification of God-self on Earth.

Beloveds, love one another more and more; bless one another in His name and work together toward the common goal, for the Kingdom shall be built by such as you--disciples in the Father's vineyard, learning to obey as the inner directions come. When you have proven your willingness, the spirit within shall direct you further so that you are following guidance. As you do this, more shall come. Let the Spirit manifest in you in whatever way seems to come forth naturally. Do not force, do not push; but do not back away either. Move with the prompting or the leading of the spirit within you. Let the soul move out in soul flight. Many times it has done this, to the outer mind, and yet if the third-dimensional conscious mind gives consent also, there is cooperation without interference, without the closing off of memory. Be not afraid; trust your God who created you and knows best how to care for you.

Many of the younger people coming in today are open to the Spirit, and Spirit shall lead. Many shall have visions, symbolic dreams and prophecies; many shall have the Lord speak through them. They are potential material which God shall use. They are being raised up to glorify Him. There are many that are in these vibrations, in homes that are developing as family units serving God. There is nothing more beautiful in the third dimension, for they are a vortex of love and energies that the Spirit brings into their midst. This can be used constructively or destructively.

Families that move in harmony and love, teaching respect for and obedience to authority, are not selfish, are not vain. They move as one in the Father's purpose. You are such families. There are many like you over the world, moving together in love and faith. Cultivate this. Those who do not love their children enough to discipline them are self-centered and careless. Many are letting their young ones run the streets without purpose, and they spoil them by giving the children all that they, in their lack of wisdom, ask for. These parents are too lazy to be true parents to the souls in their keeping. They are misguided. But those with deep love for their families will bring them up in obedience, honesty and faith, will guide their ways, for God entrusted the younger ones to their keeping for a time.

Then when children reach adulthood, they must be released so they can follow the leading of God. Their parents have given them a sense of responsibility, have taught them how to make decisions with confidence, calling upon the spirit within for guidance; have taught them justice, kindness, love.

These are the parents to whom one will say, "Well done." The Lord who raised them up unto His purposes shall give them recognition. There should be more of these family units brought up in God's ways, to enter into the kingdom together, to be in that Kingdom of Spirit so that they need not return to the wheel of birth and rebirth after the millennium. Move forward. You have earned a great deal, though it is God's grace that gives you the bounty.

These are difficult days at this end of the age, but wise are the young people who will not be disturbed by others of the crowd who go their ways to chaos. They will have faith and look to a higher goal. We would tell them to go forward in the Lord. He has raised you through many incarnations to be a worthy watcher for his coming unto Earth. Walk in the ways of thy Lord and walk into Eternal Life. Give thanks unto God that He provided you with parents of faith and spiritual direction, for through that guidance you have found your way, and the Lord shall work wonders through you.

There are many of you young people, in this day, with great enlightenment and spiritual awareness within. You respond and the spirit within bears witness to the truth, whether or not your minds fully understand. The Spirit draws you to be used to best opportunity in God's coming Kingdom; you are being raised up for this purpose.

Be faithful unto the end, be true to your goal, let love expand in you, and the consciousness that God gave you shall expand and expand until all is light. Much shall be brought to your soul remembrance, much shall come in through light, and you shall know that your God liveth, liveth in you. You are God-life coming forth to rebuild the Earth, to make new all things upon it. We add our blessings, that you young people especially (in whatever land) rise up into new understanding. Many of you can go farther than those of other generations, for you have entered with readiness to obey. If you have learned obedience as children, then as children of God you know how to obey Him. All shall work together for good to glorify His name.

We bless you and give you strength and courage to take advantage of the wonderful opportunities of this day of your Lord. Much is coming to pass. You shall be a great part of this adventure of spiritual life and cosmic change, as old things are put down for the new and greater life.

Your Lord shall work with you, and you shall know him. He has been with you much in this Retreat. Give thanks unto God that you are coming into the realization of your true Shepherd, your Lord of Earth. Be one in his consciousness, that you become One with the Father, realizing it to the fullest.

May you go in peace and blessing, for you are coming into the beam of greater Light, and closer to the will of the Father as your desires draw you, through love. As you give consent you are putting down the human will and rising up in God's will. Divine nature is beginning to manifest by degrees. Be ever aware of this within; stand in the true faith that God is reality in you. Bless you. He is with you. We all humbly bow to our Lord of Earth. Selah.

So be it! The Shepherd knows his flock. Be ye one with him. Know your Shepherd. How near he is unto you many times and you know him not. But this week you have seen him, have known him. Remain in this consciousness of oneness with him. It is this identification which brings all things to memory. You shall be raised up to be like him. Selah.

My children, I shall lead you through the green pastures and beside the cool waters. . . . Drink.

Soul Memories to be Restored

Scripture Reading: Acts. Coming of the Holy Spirit; Speaking in tongues.

Blessings unto you, beloveds. We have been attuned to you throughout the day, and this was an opportunity for more to come to you in meditation. In the midst of this power that has been brought forth, magnified day by day, there was a time for you to do more of sending it out, directing it out. We also had pre-arranged that you would have an interval or break between sessions, to allow the channel to rest, to be replenished. She must have replenishment every so often. And you also need replenishment, for you have been sitting in the concentration of these sessions of higher potency. You had to let this energy equalize in your bodies and that which you are sending forth, directing out more and more. There had to be a long enough break for you to come into a better balance so you would be ready for the next groups coming in. You have used your time well.

In bringing you this reading of Scripture, at this time, we wanted you to focus upon that event in which the early disciples were waiting for their Lord to manifest. Many of you wait today for the manifestation of the Spirit. You have all been quickened by Spirit, and you shall find that, in the days to come there shall be a much greater out-pouring of it when the readiness is there and the faith increased.

There was a celestial ship present during that particular event. Many of the signs that you read about were interpreted by those who had not known or heard of such things and had no words to describe them. Since then these writings have been translated into other languages. The "tongues of fire" were as some of the fire-balls that you are seeing today--energies of Spirit. Many brought manifestations through in that day, for the Spirit of the Lord was indeed there. All the powers of the heavens work together for God's great plan for the salvation of those on His Earth. Is it surprising, in the crucial days of this Earth, that He would send vast numbers to be on hand, to assist in the events of this ending age?

Man is afraid of that which is unknown to him. As his soul memory begins to be restored, this will help a great deal in his understanding. Man was told to trust his God, to have faith in his Lord, and he was told ahead of time the many things that would take place--how the Lord would return just as he left, in a ship in the sky, in the clouds--and would rule in justice over the Earth. He, the descendant of David, in the line of genealogy, and yet begotten of the Father, had the divine nature to manifest, and he showed that divine nature, transcending all other limitations as he came up out of the human nature and functioned completely in the divine. He showed you the way out, said that you could do the same because God was in you to raise you up to that point.

Therefore, faith and the belief in this were absolutely essential to stimulate your trust enough to cause you to waken, to stand up and live, to function in that nature that you are. Do not keep it folded away, lying dormant, as a garment you would never use. It is your free choice that will allow you to pick it up and assume that role again. Then the power of the spirit within you brings fulfilment. But you have free will to choose, so in humility and thanksgiving, in awareness, recognize the difference between the two natures and be firm with yourself, acquiescing to the Father's will. Stand up in authority, take control in the divine nature of your being and rule your kingdom--you. Then the Lord of all shall come and rule over the Earth.

But you cannot be co-rulers until you have learned to control yourselves. And yet remember, you are not, in the human nature, to punish, to beat down the self. You are to use divine authority to gently bring self into line. There is the difference. Be true to the conviction within, taking a stand and knowing that which is in the divine purpose, and bring all into balance so that you become stable, bringing your mental, physical and emotional self into balance. Bring body, mind and soul into alignment of purpose, into union, one with the other, that there be an integrated being. Then you shall receive the benefits of the energies of divine nature, which can raise you into a spiritualized being. But this cannot take place when you are out of alignment.

There is a parallel in your physical body: the spinal column and the nerves going forth to each of the organs. When your spine is out of alignment it pinches nerves, cutting off the food supply to a certain organ. Thus the organ becomes dis-eased, out of balance, out of alignment with the whole program of the body, because the life-force energies come through the nerves. Thus there is a malfunctioning. When these are adjusted and corrected the vital life forces of energy flow through the nerves again. They are the carriers for this spirit energy which feeds the organs of the body. As they have perfect connection and alignment they all work together. The Divine Intelligence is actually operating in those organs, and that which is your conscious nervous system is moving in order according to the plan, when you humanly do not interfere with it.

The same is true in the larger plan. When body, mind or soul are in different purposes, or there is not the perfect flowing through, there is a lack of balance and one area or the other suffers a deficiency of the true energies of spirit. When you function in the human will, which is out of alignment with the Father, it begins to affect areas of body, mind and soul. But when there is a perfect synchronization with all parts of these and they are one in purpose, in line with the Father's will, then the divine energies flow through, for you are no longer a house divided against itself.

So let your desires be unto God. By choice, consciously put down the human nature at every opportunity, and stand up in the higher nature. Be firm in your decision. In many instances you show that you remember a great deal, but practice more. Watch your conversations, watch your reactions, be alert, daily prepare yourself to be a vessel, emptied of self, waiting to be filled and refilled by the Holy Spirit. Be ready for more evidence of Pentecost in you; be desirous of serving the Father in whatever way you can.

You cannot always have signs come to you as quickly as you would like, so you will have to realize that when you ask for the Father's will and plan, in His wisdom He knows whether you are ready or not to handle certain things. Many times it is His will that you wait for some of the signs that you desire now. All in good time, in God's time it will come about--that which you are to do and be. Continue in faith and you will have an opportunity to see a ship, though at times your very anxiety will delay this, because you do not know how you would react when that desire is satisfied. He is building you up for great purposes and would have you move beyond the stage of excitability.

There are many things that will take place in the near future, so you are being prepared now to be stable when they happen. Have faith whether you see or not. This is a great test of your faith. Many wanted signs in the early days, and he said, "Blessed are those that have believed and have not yet seen."

Theirs is the stronger faith. It is the inner seeing that is the most important, for many are blind even though they see. But you are being raised up so that He can perform great works through you. Those who see are of a great variety; some see those who are sent from the other side. You who are being raised up in God's purposes, with this your greatest desire, shall be in line only with the celestial ships that are coming for His particular purpose for Earth. You are safe-guarded for many reasons, but let your motives be pure.

There are those who have not yet learned to come into the force-field of energies without danger, but never mind these others or what they talk about and what they have seen. You pray unto the Father and ask that in His time, in His will you may see, that you be ready to welcome. When you are relaxed and in a receptive consciousness, there will come a time, but it is not the important thing that you see, physically. It is that you come into the attitude of receptivity.

Be patient; practice more and more the awareness that shall lead to telepathic communication; live more in the inner life. Out of the entire universe, this is where the Father's communion takes place. It can come from any distance, near or far, and enter the inner being of you, the sensitivity of your soul, as a transferred thought or impression. That is your greater communication. Many times we use the nerves of the inner ear to alert you or to catch your attention so you will practice this. The important thing is that you pay attention, that you obey and practice being receptive. That is more important than seeing a ship. If you want confirmation, turn within and let the spirit bear witness to the truth. You will have a day when you see the ships, but it does not matter now when that is. That is not the first desire.

Draw closer in consciousness to the living spirit within you, that you open to the union with your Father and know what is there within you. This is more important than the ships. It is in your Father's plan to reveal and assist, to intervene when enough on Earth, in free will, have consented to work with Him and seek intervention. Pray for that intervention, that it come quickly. You shall have your time of seeing far more than you expect, so prepare within to be stable; practice sitting quietly each day, preferably in the same place, at the same hour. This is not absolutely essential, but it establishes a rhythm, a pattern in which you open to the heavens, to the higher realms of Spirit, in tune with your inner life, your inner consciousness. Ask that the Father speak to you within your heart, and reveal that which He would have you know or see.

As you learn by practice to be utterly still and relaxed, yet not tense, then you will find a time of reward. Actually it was this that Jesus had asked of his eleven close followers--to come and wait upon the Lord--that his Spirit could descend upon them. They obeyed. They waited and waited, and it seemed as though they were waiting in vain. Believing, they waited patiently and humbly, quietly turning within in prayer, asking for their Lord to fill them, after they had emptied themselves the best they knew how. After they proved their faith and patience, after much waiting they heard the sound of the descent of a great celestial ship. The Father's power and the spirit of the Lord who had left them physically were in their midst. He communed with them, came to meet their consciousness, and brought forth energies at his disposal. In many ways the power of the Holy Spirit was with them.

Whether it be in quiet ways or mighty ways, his Spirit moves through. In order for it to be most effective, one must be prepared to receive it without being startled or frightened. Many times it makes a person uncomfortable. But when one asks he must be willing to take what comes. Many believe they are ready for this when they are not. There has to be this preparation within their being--the surrendering to God and trusting--no matter what comes or how. It may put them in strange positions of ridicule or scorn; they may look foolish unto the world. They may be called mentally ill, drunk with wine--various things--because the world will not recognize the workings of the Spirit. Only those who are begotten of Him and have given their consent to be in line with His will are raised up for His purposes. Only they, at the proper time, are drawn closer. The day for the others is yet to come.

Those who have desired to be disciples and follow him must be prepared for various things and unexpected ways, and they must be made strong within, that they can take these ways when they come. Many of the greater things coming to pass will require those who are strong in faith and great in stability, those who are true to their conviction, so that they will not turn back when the going becomes difficult and they tire. Some are stimulated by a new adventure, but then they tire of it, as with a plaything. Many are superficial; they speak with their lips instead of their hearts. Those of you who are truly dedicated to serving your God pray constantly for His love and strength to fill you, for His wisdom and discernment to be with you always; pray that you learn His way and hold true to your promise to follow it.

The deep dedication of the past is now being put to the test. Many are on probation, and according to their actions and reactions, and whether or not they follow through, day by day, they will become witnesses unto the Lord and will prove the extent of their conviction. For those that still will be asking how and why, part of the growth is in the waiting. Through it, patience and faith are increased. The Father, in His wisdom, hands you His tasks at the appropriate time, when He knows you are ready. The waiting time is the longest for some of those with the greatest work to do. But their anxiety shall not hasten His works.

You open your hearts with eagerness, expectancy and hope, as we have told you to. Know that all will take place in God's will and time. Desire; pray for that which you hope to have, and it shall be as you come up in your higher nature. If you would have it sooner, move into your higher nature more quickly. You might justify delay and say, "We have many reasons why we cannot manifest in this way yet." Of course, it is difficult, and it unfolds in due course, but as you desire and practice being aware and alert you can help a great deal to expedite the functioning of your divine nature.

Many do not recognize it. Many are not aware enough to see it, even as it happens in our channel, the soul, Sarramya, as we give her opportunity to channel consciously, for we know that she can be trusted to manifest in this manner; we know the conscious desire is there and that, with practice, it can be separated from the human nature. But many do not recognize or understand it when it comes forth this way. They would not recognize the functioning of their own souls in this manner.

They are so accustomed to being bodies with the human nature that they do not realize that the one must finally take command over the other, saying, "Get thee behind me," bringing forth that which is of God, to control the situations of Earth. With practice this can be done consciously and you will be aware of it. The fruits will show. Those with open eyes of the spirit can tell the difference. Others may overlook, not recognize, may think that it is the human, for they are accustomed to calling the body by name, thinking of it as always functioning in the human nature.

There still will be stumblings, a slipping back that the individual must watch for and be aware of, but how else can the soul begin to stand up and take authority if it does not practice functioning in the temple in which it lives? But there is a different way, a different manner. One with true spiritual discernment can recognize this when it happens, and he will encourage its practice. It is as though the soul has been dormant, in prison-like state, has been locked away for a time, and yet, in many cases it is not locked away. The divine nature functions along with the other, bringing forth a spiritual functioning as long as it consciously takes command, saying to the human nature, "Get thee behind me!" Be firm. Ask God to direct every thought and action. Then let His will be done and speak and move in the higher consciousness as the divine takes over.

Where were those with eyes to see who knew him? Those with the Lord on the mountain-side--some had eyes to see, ears to hear--they knew their Lord. Others turned away. He was just a man to them. They had no discernment. This will be true now as souls begin to function in the divine nature, and they must be encouraged and sustained as they act in their higher faculties.

The human ego must be put down until it has given up completely, until the evil thing--that opposite of life--is stamped out. E-v-i-l is the backward way. L-i-v-e is going toward God's fulfilment. Live in the divine nature; die in the human nature. Live in the reality of eternal awareness and supremacy of God-direction. This brings forth humility, meekness, and you know where the strength and power comes from, know to Whom you would give the glory by being that which His plan sent forth. Become pleasing to Him by manifesting that which He sent you out to expand. Through consent allow that divine nature to show. It is not your doing so much, as your undoing. You are putting down inflated ego, the self that would be on the defensive. Lose sight of yourself in the God-self, and He shall give you newness of life.

A return to God is all there is left. Eventually even those turning away from God will turn to Him, so why delay by holding on to the human ways? Spiritual man can stand forth in great light, for spiritual man is begotten of the Father, begotten in His image. Human nature and human form are stepping aside, because the victory was already accomplished when Jesus overcame for all, asking that they identify with him and come into his consciousness, through the acceptance of his love. They have worked their way through many things, but the dispensation of grace was given by the Father. Man could never work out all the negative karma that he had built, without the grace of God, extended unto him through the love of Jesus who became the Christ.

He showed you the door, the way to become that which the Father willed for you. You, by your consent, move through in love, that the Spirit mold you, that you stand up in that Light, glorifying the Father. It is as though you would pass out, trusting that you would be brought into new life. You put down the old, put down the human nature and give up. Then you find that you have an awareness, an individuality in the reality of God-self. Even if your mind does not understand this, trust it, relax and slide into place. Trust God, that the plan be fulfilled. Man cannot do it himself, but he gives consent so that God works through him. This great law holds.

God sent you forth with free will. That is His will and plan. Give your consent and He will do the works through you. But you cannot remain boss; you cannot be a dictator and tell Him how things should be done. In humility, put to use all of your talents to the best of your ability--that which has been given you of God--but under His direction, not your own. We know that you in this room are desiring with all your hearts to allow this to happen. That very desire will do it. Not your techniques. It shall be done, but patience while it is yet being done. In the meantime, watch for your Lord's return, watch that you not stumble, give thanks unto the guardian angels that walk with you. Keep the faith.

An infant has to wait twenty-one years to become an adult, growing through various stages along the way. It cannot say, "Let me be mature. I want it today." He is going toward it in the great laws that govern this. So are you. Keep your motives pure; in your hearts keep your attitudes in the way of the Lord. Put down all else, empty self and be filled with love. Pray for God's love to flow through more and more and more. Desire it with all your being. Your desire opens. Then comes the flood; then you will receive it. It is as Jesus said about standing at the door: it is his spirit (in the Christ nature of you) standing at the door, knocking, as it were, symbolically showing you that it is there, ready when you put down the old self through your desire to be changed.

It fuses, the energies flow in and God is in action in you, though you might not recognize it, you might not choose that particular way. You might immediately begin to question, "Well, why do it this way? It would be better this other way." Then say, "Down with you! Get thee behind me!" God is in action in His temple, and His wisdom knows how to fulfill all laws. Acquiesce to it, then be alert and obey the promptings you receive within. Practice this. If you miss in understanding a few times you will soon know, and you will be more keenly aware the next time. But when you practice--and you have a great deal of control here--then you lift your consciousness. In that nature, in that consciousness you will see with a different perspective.

Give each day unto God. When you first awaken ask Him to run His day by using you, and watch for the various developments that take place. You have asked for His will to be done, so accept His will, even though it may not be to your liking, or if you have to shift a bit to make way for something else that comes into the picture that day. And yet, if you constantly ask for His will to be done in you and that day to be His day, He will draw to you that with which you are to meet and work. You may have to have more prayer for discernment as to how to meet it, for it will upset many of your plans, but God's plan will be in action. As you recognize this and walk in faith, it will stimulate your growth. This is the way in which a channel is raised up.

Throughout the long years there must ever be prayers for discernment, for there will certainly be stumblings and forgetful moments, but God's action continues until all is brought into balance. Practice the realization of the Presence of God in your midst--this is the key. Consciously know it, accept it and give thanks. God is in the energies He sent forth throughout His creation. Those in the Spirit of the Christ open even unto the angels who would commune with them, working in accordance with the plan. Be ye raised up in His likeness.

Be consciously aware of your Shepherd every day. He is going before you, that you go through the door with him. He shall not leave one behind. When you consciously project a desire for his love and his presence, you open the door, and he is in your midst.

Blessed are those that know their Lord walks with them. Blessed are ye, followers of your Shepherd. Feed ye on my body of Light, energies of the Father to sustain the souls. Send forth this power throughout the Earth, in His name, unto the Father. Amen.
